 NATIONAL AQUARIUM IN BALTIMORE

FORWARD LOOKING

 NATIONAL AQUARIUM IN BALTIMORE
2004 ANNUAL REPORT

The accomplishments of the last 12 months are amazing. This annual report allows us to share the compelling highlights of 2004 and thank the forward looking people who share our commitment to the protection and preservation of the environment.

DEAR FRIENDS:

Looking back over 2004 is both inspiring and energizing.

Inspiring because we cannot help but reflect on the incredible number of individuals – board, donors, staff, volunteers, members, elected officials, and a supportive community – who made the year a success. Energizing because it is amazing to see how much has been accomplished in 12 short months!

In 2004, even with each of the Aquarium departments focused on daily challenges and routines, we found ourselves looking forward – anticipating the opening of our expansion and waterfront park, laying plans for a new animal care center, preparing for an upcoming five-year accreditation visit by our professional organization, and continuing to assemble an intriguing collection of animals for the soon-to-be-opened Australian exhibit.

It is also true that 2004 was a year in which we focused on initiatives that are forward looking – the board explored new governance concepts for our expanding campuses, senior management established challenging milestones to help us reach our 2020 Vision, and staff developed a bold program master plan that concentrates our resources on aquatic stewardship and behavior change with global impact.

The challenges are greater than ever – 2004's ocean reports paint a troubling picture of the state of the world's water and aquatic life. With your continued support, we look forward to making a difference, to being an agent for change, and to providing uncompromising leadership in environmental education and action.

DAVID M. PITTENGER
Executive Director

RANDALL M. GRIFFIN
Chairman of the Board

2004 HIGHLIGHTS

Coming Up Taller

The President's Committee on Arts and Humanities presented its Coming Up Taller Award to the Aquarium on Wheels (AOW) program. AOW student Candice Haynes proudly accepted the award from First Lady Laura Bush, along with a $10,000 grant for the program.

Leaders in Their Fields

The Aquarium noted with pride the leadership of biological programs staff whose efforts were key to the organization of two major symposia – the first International Symposium for Water Quality and Treatment for Zoos and Aquaria held in Lisbon, Portugal; and the 2004 Animal Behavior Management Alliance Annual Conference held in Baltimore.

ACTing on the Bay's Behalf

By year's end, the Aquarium Conservation Team (ACT), along with 842 community volunteers, planted 258,424 individual native marsh grasses, restoring 14 acres of tidal wetlands. Dedicated students, college classes, and local citizens of all ages donated 6,781 volunteer hours and walked away with a sense of environmental stewardship for the Chesapeake Bay.

Sharks Are Amazing

Shark Quest – a public program combining interactive components and exhibitry to dispel myths about sharks – earned the American Zoological Association's Munson Aquatic Conservation Exhibitry award, including a $25,000 grant for the Aquarium's education department.

And a Shark Quest Effie

The Aquarium's advertising campaign for Shark Quest, "Uncomfortably Close," received an international Effie Award from the New York American Marketing Association. The citation recognizes effectiveness in advertising – and specifically honors success in meeting objectives and delivering superior results.

Exceeding Expectations

With a hefty goal of $15 million, the Aquarium's capital campaign committee had a lot to celebrate in the summer of 2004. At a festive reception, campaign co-chairs Neal Borden and Ken Trout thanked donors for their generosity and offered toasts to an overwhelming success: $17.3 million was raised to support the Pier 3 expansion and new exhibit featuring an Australian river gorge.

Gateway to the Chesapeake

In 2004, the National Park Service designated the Aquarium a "Chesapeake Bay Gateway," one of a network of over 140 places – parks, refuges, museums, historic sites, and water trails – where people can experience the Bay through recreational, historical, and special learning activities. A $150,000 grant from the organization will enhance the new Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Waterfront Park, an oasis open to all.

Aquarium to the Rescue

This year the Aquarium's Marine Animal Rescue Program (MARP) responded to 25 calls for assistance. In the spring, volunteers brought a distressed harp seal from Lewes Beach, Delaware, to Baltimore. Following four months of treatment, surgery, and rehabilitation, MARP volunteers celebrated the healthy seal's return to ocean waters and tracked its journey by satellite for four more weeks.

The Gift of Time

The Aquarium's 740 volunteers (including 56 interns) continued to set records by donating more than 109,000 hours valued at more than $1,426,000. Members of this dedicated, diverse, and unpaid workforce hail from nine states and 19 Maryland counties. More than half are also employed in full- and part-time jobs.

A Vote of Confidence

During the 2004 General Assembly session, Maryland's legislators ensured the Aquarium's continued role as the State's premiere tourist destination and educational resource by approving $3.1 million in capital and operating funds. Baltimore City voters also weighed in, approving the Aquarium's bond funds of $1.5 million for fiscal years 2006 and 2007.

Preserving Our Coastlines

This year the Conservation department brought home two prestigious awards, both presented by Coastal America. The first honored wetland restoration work at the Naval Air Station Patuxent River site (Webster Field); the second recognized the Wetland Nursery program (Schoolyard Spartina), now flourishing in eight community schools.

On the Way to Australia

At a celebration marking the halfway point in expansion construction, the Aquarium welcomed Australian Ambassador Michael Thawley, and announced that Animal Planet, a Discovery Channel affiliate, will be the presenting sponsor of the new Australian exhibit. Officials unveiled the new exhibit's name: Animal Planet Australia: Wild Extremes.

Dolphins Come Out to Play!

Debuting with high energy in the spring, Play! The All-New Dolphin Show introduced visitors to the role of play in animal development, learning, and well being. Visitors discovered how juveniles hone their survival skills, build relationships, amuse themselves with toys, and interact with one another.

Counting on CALC

The Aquarium signed a land disposition agreement with the City of Baltimore, setting the stage for the purchase of 19 acres of waterfront property on the Middle Branch of the Patapsco River – future site of the Center for Aquatic Life and Conservation (CALC). CALC will house the animal care, conservation education, and marine animal rescue programs.

Australia Breeding Success

The Aquarium's first ever crocodilian breeding occurred with the successful hatching of a freshwater crocodile at the offsite animal care facility. This unique crocodile is one of Australia's many endemics. Several turtles acquired from Australia for the new exhibit have also laid eggs – a good start toward the goal of self-sustaining populations for many unique Australian species at the Aquarium.

2004 OPERATING REVENUES

The Aquarium's significant achievements were not accomplished easily or alone. Our plans and good intentions continue to become realities only through cooperation, alliances, and partnerships formed with individuals, groups and institutions that share our commitment to the protection and preservation of the environment. You can become a partner in sharing the Aquarium's vision by making a contribution, planning a legacy gift, or becoming a corporate sponsor. Call 410-576-3876 for more information.

Donor Societies and Leadership Giving Circles

The Aquarium's world-class past – and exciting future – would not be possible without the generous support of special friends who make annual contributions above and beyond their membership dues. These societies were designed to involve and recognize donors for their valuable support in helping us achieve our mission, which grows more pressing and far-reaching every year, particularly now as we expand our facilities on Pier 3.

Opening Eyes, Changing Lives: Exceeding Expectations

It takes a community to raise nearly $18 million. Thanks to the generous support of more than 1,500 individuals, members, businesses, and foundations, the Aquarium not only met its Capital Campaign goal, it exceeded it by a record-setting $2.3 million. With this montage, we celebrate the culmination of Opening Eyes, Changing Lives, the most ambitious fundraising campaign in our almost 25-year history.

Thank you to all who supported our capital campaign.

1. A blue-tongued skink is introduced to Dr. Marcia Kane and Edward Daniels by Matt Evans, Australian herpetologist. 2. Peter Baxter [l.], deputy chief of mission for the Embassy of Australia, joins executive director Dave Pittenger, and board member Rod Daniels [r.]. 3. Campaign Co-chair Neal Borden. 4. Thomas Barringer, who accompanied his mother Mary Ellen, visited the construction site. 5. Campaign Co-chair Kenneth Trout.

HELP US FORWARD OUR MESSAGE

The private non-profit National Aquarium in Baltimore relies upon the involvement and generosity of friends, corporate partners, and foundations. You can help the Aquarium make the connections that will change lives, reclaim precious resources, and preserve environments for generations to come. In the process, you may find that the heart you touch, the mind you open, and the life you change will be your own.

- To contribute to the capital campaign, Opening Eyes, Changing Lives, call 410-659-4250.
- To make a gift to the annual fund, the memorial, or tribute program, call 410-576-8678.
- To inquire about sponsorships or media partnerships, call 410-576-1438.
- To learn about endowments, or planned giving opportunities, and the Aquarium's charitable gift annuity program, call 410-659-4250.
- To learn about individual and family memberships, call 410-659-4230.
- To inquire about corporate memberships, call 410-576-3866.
